Things have changed a bit since the days of the infamous Hotel Vaughn! The Creede, Colorado area offers a host of accommodation options, from remote camping sites to full-service hotels and everything in between.

Although the area surrounding Creede offers year-round attractions, the summer months are most popular with guests. Those planning a summer visit are encouraged to make lodging arrangements well in advance. Rooms, cabins, and campsites fill early, particularly around holidays and special events.

For your year-round reference, the "snowman mug" indicates businesses providing winter lodging.

Dining & Spirits

Dining "out" in Creede means everything from a "chuckwagon" dinner ride to "out on the town" at one of our fine restaurants/cafes. As you can see from the photo, you can enjoy open-air dining during the summer at some of Creede's dining establishments. Several restaurants in Creede also offer year-round dining. So don't hesitate to browse our dining options for a complete listing of eateries and watering holes.

Decisions, Decisions, Decisions...

A drive up the Silver Thread Scenic Byway, bag a fourteener, attend a gallery opening? Is there time to catch the evening hatch and still make the curtain at the Rep? The wildflowers are bustin' on Slumgullion, but the mine tour leaves at 1:00!

A premier Arts town, in the heart of Colorado's spectacular high country, can put a little pressure on our visitors.

...Relax!

The locals know, and our visitors quickly learn, that Creede is pretty laid back. Leave the hectic pace and fast food joints where they belong. You'll be back. And, hey, even though no one's seen King Lear in their waders yet, there's always a first!

The Arts

Art Galleries/Studios

Art Park | Creede Arts Council | Creede Repertory Theatre
The Creede Woodcarver's Rendezvous

In 100 Best Small Arts Towns in America (John Muir Publications: Santa Fe), John Villani identifies Creede as a place to "discover creative people, fresh air, and affordable living". Creede supports one of the most active and energetic arts communities in the country with a variety of commercial galleries and studios plus an Art Park and many more exhibits sequestered among private homes. The Creede Repertory Theatre, an active arts organization (Creede Arts Council), and The Creede Woodcarver's Rendezvous are additional enhancements to Creede's art scene.

"Artists who live in Creede, know they're onto something good and have the unshakable impression things are going to get better and better. Summers here are a wonderful time to experience the glory of Colorado outdoors."

John Villani

The Art Park
Main Street, Creede, CO 81130

The Art Park provides a relaxing space to enjoy permanent and temporary exhibits while taking a respite from the bustle of Creede's busy Main Street. An information kiosk details art happenings throughout the year.

Go to top

★ Creede Arts Council
P.O. Box 392, Creede, CO 81130

The Arts Council was organized in 1991 to enhance arts education and the appreciation of the visual, literary, and performing arts in Mineral County. The CAC presents concerts and exhibits throughout the year, often working in conjunction with the Creede Repertory Theatre and other organizations for performances and a variety of cultural activities.

The Arts Council publishes the Willow Creek Journal featuring local writers, artists, and photographers. The Council also acquires and commissions works for the enjoyment of residents and visitors. The downtown murals, the Picnic Table Project in Willow Creek Canyon, and the Art Park are just a few of the Creede Art Council's productions.

Activity schedules are posted at the kiosk in the Art Park or may be obtained from the Council at the above address as well as from the Creede & Mineral County Chamber of Commerce.

crt@creederep.com ~ www.creederep.com

The nationally-acclaimed Creede Repertory Theatre celebrates their 38th season in 2003. This year's play list features: A Tuna Christmas, Forever Plaid, I Hate Hamlet, Hamlet, Three Viewings, Pan and Boone, Double Bass, Johnny Appleseed, Northanger Abby, and a children's play TBA.

The nationally-acclaimed Creede Repertory Theatre draws nearly 20,000 theatergoers every year. Although productions vary from year to year, musicals, comedies, contemporary and classic dramas are standard repertoire. It is possible to see seven plays in four days at the height of CRT's season. CRT also presents a special concert series during the summer. Having expanded both program and season, the CRT now continues its series of "main stage" shows and the intimate "3rd Floor Theatre" productions into autumn.

Sell-out performances are common in mid- to late summer so advance reservations are strongly recommended. The season schedule is available by contacting the CRT or checking the CRT website.
